Mrs. Francis Cole Lucky Winner

Mrs. Frances Cole of Blairmore was the lucky winner of 75 silver dollars at the Coleman Volunteer Fire Brigade bingo held recently at Coleman.

This bingo was held to raise funds for community projects.

Other winners were: Polly Snowden, A. Carlson, Edna Campbell, Gladys Cunningham, Marge Kubica, J. Donald, Mrs. Plonny, A. Gardner, Mrs. A. Bernardo, H. Pozak, M. Storey, Josephine Graf, Joe Semenzen, Mrs. P. Block, Mrs. Rick Cox and Mrs. Bevelaque.

It is no disgrace to take a success page from some other communities' book when it comes to an all-out community effort.

As a comparative newcomer into the business and community life of Coleman we have watched with silent interest the pros and cons of the present swimming pool question relative to Coleman and Blairmore.

As a Coleman operation, naturally our interests are for the growth and welfare of the community. Experience has shown that a swimming pool is one of the best assets any community can have.

And how do you go about building a community project?

The answer is co-operative community effort.

We have examined several communities faced with the same problems that Coleman now has and it all begins with the presidents of every Coleman organization, church and hospital auxiliary presidents, presidents from every service club and fraternal organization and auxiliary, the chamber of commerce president and the general managers of industry and the civic mayor.

From this group, if the unanimous opinion is to build a pool, elect from the presidents a chairman, who in turn will call on each organization represented to perform a function.

Next step is the construction committee who canvass the district for operators of heavy equipment who will donate (X number of dollars in voluntary labor); will interest voluntary work from industrial architects or draftsmen to design and estimate cost; will ask lumber donations for concrete forms with the material later used for bathroom facilities and finally the pledge of every family and industry for (X number of dollars) to pay for the concrete and supporting steel.

When all this is prepared and volunteer labor is required the town takes a holiday with everyone contributing his services to help with the pool's construction.

This would also entail the smooth concrete finish of the pool's interior and the painting of same with donated paint.

This would complete phase one with a pool having slop troughs, a concrete walk way around the pool, bathhouse along with water heaters fired by natural gas, a filter and grass area outside the walkways.

As the pool gains revenue stage two can be planned which would be a covering in accordance with the planner's designs.

Just what will a pool do for a community?

• It will offer an opportunity for children to learn to swim under Red Cross instruction.

• It will serve high school students with a physical education program.

• It will draw tourists to the area and keep children healthy and occupied during the summer months. It will create student summer employment as life guards, maintenance, ticket takers, etc.

• We believe it can be done for a moderate amount of capital outlay which Coleman can afford and this newspaper will pledge its columns to help in any undertaking.

★ THE HOMEMAKER ★

By MISS LYNN JOHNSTON
Home Economist

"Mirror, mirror on the wall,
What happened to me this Fall?
Dishpan hands, wrinkled forehead
Spare tire from being wellfed;
Tired eyes and wragly hair,
Is there some hope for repair?"

With the harvest at an end, canning and preserving completed, and the kids settled in the routine of school, it's time for you, Mom, to take a look at yourself after a long summer of neglect.

I realize that many of you believe that you have no need to care for any so-called beauty tricks. You find that beauty articles in magazines are trifles, good only for the younger girls or for the "city" women who supposedly undertake these beauty treatments.

Let's face it though. We are women. And we must be proud of such, if we take time out to sew that new dress, remodel last year's coat, buy those new shoes — So why not take a little time out each day to take care of yourself?

The following is an alphabet of beauty — basic beauty tips and aids:

- A. is for Alpha — the Greek word for beginning. And the beginning in beauty is analysis. Look in the mirror — are you tall or short? What color is your complexion? What shape is your face — oval, round, square or triangular? How big and what color are your eyes? Is that a few extra pounds you've accumulated around your waist?
- B. is for blessing. First of all, your health, and any physical features that make you, you. Like talent, all of us have some admired physical attributes. Discover them as part of your analysis.
- C. is for continuity. Today, your determination may be high, but it may slowly decrease as days unite into weeks. Time is the one factor that permits us to continue and eventually reach our goals. Permit the weeks to form a month.
- D. is for dedication. You cannot be bribed into setting up such a program, nor into continuing it. Dedication is a great measure of any success. So don't give up because of too little sleep last night; tonight you may give up because you worked too hard today.
- E. is for emergency measures; the comb and the lipstick, the powder puff in your purse for the unexpected visits, or prolonged stays when you go out.
- F. is for freshness, fastidiousness, fragrance, and feminine hygiene. The freshness acquired after a daily bath; a definite part of feminine hygiene. The little extra care taken for the particulars (fastidiousness), like splurging on a bottle of cologne, that makes you truly feel like a woman.
- G. is for the glow of beauty; clear skin and bright shining eyes. And how is that achieved? Through plenty of sleep. You know that Spring, Summer and Fall days are often so crammed with things to be done, that sleep is the one commodity we cut down on. So why not rest during the winter? And watch the glow return.

Letter To The Editor

The Editor,
Coleman Journal,
Coleman, Alta.

Dear Sir:

Consultation Clause — Phooey!

It is unfortunate that at a time when our youngsters are openly questioning the values and sanity of our present society, that two apparently responsible organizations, namely the Alberta Teachers' Association and the Alberta School Trustees Association, are acting in such an irresponsible manner during the current salary negotiations. It is a wonder that the people who will suffer most as a result of this irrational and irresponsible behaviour (the students) are rapidly losing respect for both our intelligence and values? Or is it that with our usual arrogance and stupidity that we question not only their intelligence, but also that of their parents and the general public?

Look at the facts that have been presented to the public by both sides in the current dispute. If we are to believe what we read and hear, the major stumbling block to agreement has been a consultation clause, whereby teachers would be given the opportunity to advise and comment on decisions which would affect their working conditions.

Rubbish! On the one hand, as far as the teaching profession is concerned, such a clause would not be worth the paper it is written on, as it would only give them the right to express their views, which would hardly affect their salaries (final decisions). So why insist on it?

On the other hand, as far as the trustees are concerned it would not, as I have just indicated, affect their ultimate decisions. So why fear it?

Clarifying these questions, it would appear that the ATA fear an erosion of existing teachers' work conditions, and that the ASTA fear it would give the teachers a foot in the door as far as further Municipalities Association.

encroachments on their decision making function is concerned. Is there an answer to this dilemma? Yes, a rather simple one.

Within the present negotiating frame work settle the salary grid and allied financial clauses, with a contractual proviso that all existing local working conditions remain in force unless re-negotiated on an area basis by mutual agreement. There is a precedent for this course of action. In fact it would be compatible with a comparable proviso which exists in the legislation of our neighbouring Province of Saskatchewan.

Or is it that the parents, teachers and trustees of this Province are simply pawns in an executive power game, with the students as the sacrificial goats, and in fact the real issues have not been publicized.

Yours truly,
Roy E. Cope,
Principal.

REMEMBER

"If you can't Remember... Think!"

This is the theme of The Royal Canadian Legion's Remembrance program this year. It takes a realistic look at our population's age grouping and recognizes the fact that 60 percent of the population are under 30. Not only are students made to remember World War II, many school teachers are also too young to have had any personal involvement.

So the thrust of the 1971 Remembrance message is not that these people should bow their heads and hypocritically pretend to remember something which happened before they were born. The message very simply is: "If you can't remember war, think of the peace and your duty as a Canadian citizen."

In an age of vicious protest groups, one hears a great deal about liberty, civil rights, opportunities for youth and "doing one's thing." The 1971 Remembrance theme attempts to repatriate one word, a word which somehow has become foreign to too many of us. The word is "responsibility."

Some, the next of kin of the war dead, will of course see other things in their performance as citizens. Last year the Quebec crisis dramatized two facts: we could lose this country by default, and many of us are indifferent citizens.

Citizenship and understanding is what it's all about. Some 111,000 young Canadians died to give us the opportunity to develop both.

For those who are fortunate enough not to remember war, Remembrance Day still has an important message. It is not a message of old battles, but one of old causes. It is not a message of death and the past, but one of hope and the future. Remembrance is a time during which we all can examine our sense of responsibility as Canadian citizens. If we don't do it on this day, when else in our fun-oriented calendar will we find time to make a true assessment of ourselves as citizens of this country and of the world?

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA

(Correspondent)

By ALLEN SULATYCKY, M.P.

Many of the political observers from all parts of the world watched this country closely during the recent visit to Canada of Alexei Kosygin.

As chairman of the council of ministers of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, Mr. Kosygin is one of the three most powerful men in the USSR, the other two being President Podgorniy, and Communist Party leader Brezhnev.

This was the first time a Soviet leader has visited Canada. The invitation was issued by Prime Minister Trudeau during his visit to the USSR earlier this year.

If one discounts the various agreements and peaceful overtures made by the leaders of the two nations on their respective visits, he would still have to realize that the very fact that the exchange of visits took place was a welcome thaw in the previously icy relations between the two countries.

A few short years ago, many Canadians put emphasis on making preparations for war with the USSR, even to the extent of equipping their homes with bomb shelters. It must have been a welcome development for these people to see, on the arrival of Minister Kosygin, he and the Prime Minister, even to the extent of equipping their homes with bomb shelters.

Of course, the possibilities of in-will facilitate an expansion in programs of scientific, technical, and cultural exchanges. This not only means that more exchanges of information in these fields will take place, but that many Canadians engaged in these fields will have a chance to visit the Soviet Union, and their counterparts there will visit Canada. By bringing the people together, it is foreseen that the many similarities and mutual goals of our population will be fully realized.

Canadians, especially since recent developments have brought to light the instability of a heavy reliance on a trading partner.

As has been more than well reported, our guest encountered many groups of protesters along his journey to five Canadian cities. It is unfortunate that the very small group of militant and irrational people, exemplified by the man who managed to attack Mr. Kosygin on Parliament Hill, made it necessary to cloak the Chairman in security so tight as to make it almost impossible for the peaceful and positive majority of protesters to be heard. They, however, I am sure, did manage to leave an impression on him.

Canada and the Soviet Union are relatively close to one another physically. Both nations can but a position to contribute in a real way to reducing collisions caused by drinking drivers.

HOROSCOPE

ARIES — March 21 to April 20
Special emphasis is placed on social activities this week. By all rights, you should be reaping good gains, if you have learned to profit from past experience.

TAURUS — April 21 to May 20
Social activities may tend to become a little "mixed-up" this next week. You would be wise to stay in the background of any social engagements you have to attend.

GEMINI — May 21 to June 20
A cold, or minor illness could cause you to feel very run-down and depressed for a few days. Follow your family doctor's advice, and don't try pushing too hard in business matters.

CANCER — June 21 to July 21
The romance department is working overtime on your behalf once again. There's not a single planet in the zodiac in poor aspect to your solar sign.

LEO — July 22 to August 21
As long as you don't let your heart run away with your head this week, all should work out very well indeed. An idea may come to you "from out of the blue" it might be worth-while following it up.

VIRGO — August 22 to Sept. 21
There's a strong possibility that many Virgo persons may be leaving one type of business and starting something new. There's nothing wrong with this, as long as you think about it very carefully first.

LIBRA — Sept. 22 to Oct. 22
Life may seem a little dull for Libra individuals especially over the coming week-end. Keep your mind and hands busy working constructively and you'll chase away any feeling of gloom.

SCORPIO — Oct. 23 to Nov. 21
A highly romantic and exciting week is indicated for Scorpio. There may be a temptation to spend a little more money than you should, but if you don't go to extremes it shouldn't upset your budget too badly.

SAGITTARIUS — Nov. 22 to Dec. 20
Some impulsive action on your part right now might not work out too well. If you're contemplating a change of some sort, you'll be away ahead to wait until next month. Conditions then will be more favourable.

CAPRICORN — Dec. 21 to Jan. 19
Astrologically, right now is one of the better periods in life for those born in Capricorn. Every planet is favouring your sign. This is a splendid time to expand your business interests.

AQUARIUS — Jan. 20 to Feb. 18
Getting angry and losing your temper next week wouldn't do you any good whatsoever. If someone angers you, simmer down a bit, and think in terms of common sense.

PISCES — Feb. 19 to Mar. 20
By aiding others at this time, you will be aiding yourself tremendously. You have learned a great deal by past experience. Follow the "golden rule" and enjoy the benefits life has to offer.

Half Of 252 Accidents In Alberta Due To Impaired Driving

"Half of the 252 fatal traffic collisions investigated by the R.C.M.P. in Alberta last year had a liquor involvement", reports Inspector W.J. Hunter, R.C.M.P. Traffic Officer for Alberta.

The situation is of grave concern to the R.C.M.P. for although prosecutions for impaired drivers in the first eight months of 1971 increased 50%, incidents of liquor involvement were still encountered in half of the fatal crashes investigated. By the end of August this year, there were 103 such cases. In the face of this serious situation the R.C.M.P. are embarking on a prevention program primarily designed to keep potential impaired drivers out of their vehicles.

The first phase of this program is designed to acquaint the public with the high rate of liquor involvement in serious traffic collisions. In addition, through correspondence from the Alberta Liquor Control Board and follow-up visits by members of the R.C.M.P., the management and employees in liquor outlets such as taverns, cocktail lounges, etc., are being made aware of the magnitude of the problem directly associated with the drinking driver.

The police theory being that: Once liquor outlet managements and employees are acquainted with the serious problems involved and openly advised of the aims of the police program, they can and will be in a position to contribute in a real way to reducing collisions caused by drinking drivers.

The second phase of the program will follow immediately and consist of the establishment of police checkpoints aimed primarily at the person whose ability to drive has been impaired by alcohol. These checkpoints will be set up on a selective basis as to time and place to first deter, and where necessary, detect and apprehend the maximum number of impaired drivers.

On the surface this approach may seem severe, however, the police believe that the grim statistics clearly indicate the situation warrants stringent action now. They also feel that once the Force's attitude and motives are made known, the general public will realize there is a need for this type of action and a significant degree of acceptance and compliance with the laws will follow. Hopefully, the incidents of impaired driving will recede.

Inspector Hunter says, "Traffic safety is everyone's responsibility. We don't want more prosecutions. We just want less collisions, less serious consequences of drinking new condition. Cheap for cash. death, destruction and misery."

You and your domestic "power hour"

Look at the power/full difference 20 years made to the cost of cooking 3 square meals a day!

THEN: That range was like a good old work-horse. It was dependable, functional, and did its job well if it was closely watched. It cooked the family's meals for a power cost of

3.36 a month.

NOW: No need for Mom to stay home on the range. This fully automatic appliance starts itself, times itself, turns itself off. All for a power cost of only

1.53 a month.

Despite continually increasing costs, the price of electricity is far less than 20 years ago!
